THE ACCIDENT TO THE CITY OF

RIO DE JANEIRO. We are informed by the agent of the Pacific Mail S. S. Co. that the latest news of the City of Rio de Janeiro, received per telegram from Yokohama this morning, is to the effect, that she struck an unknown rock off Cape Mone; was beached; hole patched up, and was proceeding slowly to Nagazaki, where she is expected to arrive to-day. The Cabin and Steerage passengers, Mails and Treasure, arrived in Nagasaki at 9 p.m. last evening. It is believed she will be docked and repaired at Nagazaki and come down here in due course.

HICES ORIOLES AT THE CITY HALL.

RMTHUSIASTIC RECEPTION. Hicks' Speciality Company opened last night at the City Hall with an exceedingly attractive programme and presented to Hongkong audience a Company which for excellence in every detail has seldem been equalled in the Colony in its own partiou-Isrline. A packed house gave them a hearty closed the case for the Crown in a long welcome to Hongkong. The various artists appeared to be in excellent form, and the whole programme was gone through with great spirit, the audience at many of the items applauding continuously.

The programme opened with a sketch entitled ' Poisoned Milk,' It proved a weak number, compared with what followed, and gave little scope for the members taking part in it. The part of Patery' made yery funny by Phil Mack. absurd death soons tickled the audience immensely. The Girards next took the boards, and showed some grotesque contertions that made the audience marvel. Miss Kate Girard's high-kicking certainly borders on the marvellous. Emile showed considerable skill in his department. The Girards bring kindly reminiscences of our early theatrical days. When we were astonished by the Majiltons, by whom they are certainly not surpassed. Miss Mand Dickson followed next and showed she was possessed of a very fine voice, one that Maestro Cattaneo would term 'sopr-r-ano dramma-took.' The 'Jewel Song' from Faust was put down as her tour de force, but we question whether she did not please better (well sung as the 'Jewel Song' was) in her encore gong 'Sweet Marie,' and still better in 'Comin' thro' the Rye.' When the audience had finished applauding and Miss Dickson had repeatedly bowed her knowledgments, the Pardue Sisters, prettily coatumed, tripped upon the stage. Their Spanish dance, with a few modifications, would provide tips to the manager of our local pantomime. They are a charming quartette and their dance was all too brief. The base ball skit, with which the first part of the programme concluded, was appreciated most by the Canadian and American portion of the audience, but would have been lost upon the majority of the audience had it not been for the pleasant fooling of Phil Mack whose funny diversions created roars of laughter.

Though clever in its way, the operation travesty upon which the curtain rose after the interval, did not seem to strike the fancy of the audience. Mr Frank Burt recited 'The Vagabond' with the elecution of a master hand, and he also gave a clever paredy of Miss Dickson's Sweet Marie. making quite a hit in his allusion to the taking of Port Arthur, The Pardue Sisters put in a second appearance, and pirouetted round the stage in a charmingly original dance. They were again deservedly encored. Miss Maud Dickson received quite an ovation when she reappeared. She sang a couple of ballads in a very refined manner. Miss Dickson more than fulfils the appreciative notices given of her by the press. The last item on the programme was a at 06 Winglok Street, tied up the inmates, but he corroborates the Watchman that most difficult exercises with a grace and

necken's plan for a Chinese Army has utterly collapsed. As usual in such a case, there is more than one reason. It was inevitable, knowing the character of the two men, that the scheme should come to an end. The Vicercy La's idea was to have a force completely under his control, in which you Hannecken should supply the brains and fi make the money and the reputation. Han, necken desired both for himself, and as no intermediate way out of the difficulty presented itself, the usual plan of want of funds quality is too poor for milling. We shall has been made the ground of knocking the whole on the head. After Major you Hannecken's escape, after the Koushing affair. he stated that he had a fatere that would prove the salvation of China. The fatare was of the usual type-an Army under von Hannecken's control, free from outer interference. The reply to this utopian scheme was that the best idea for China would been extended 26' 3" and is still in broken be to make such terms as she could. and begin reorganisation from the very be-Intermediate 150' Level .- The Crossout ginning. Such things can only be attained by a reform in I am pleased to say we have found what I every branch, but more especially in technic consider a very fine reof at about 81 feet cal and moral training. The experience of the last few years goes to prove that the ansociates with whom Major von Hannecken has been identified are hardly qualified in these particulars. The only practical idea for China is to throw herself in the protecting arms of one or two big nations, to assure peace for the next fifty years. To employ her soldiery in making roads throughout the country, to open schools, mines, and cominge' for a return of 333 oz. 15 dwts munications; to establish post offices and encourage a free press; and, finally, to found Cyanide Works. - The building for this is a school for, say, five hundred youths of in course of erection, as is also the Lubora. good family (not the low class hitherto affected), to place the school in charge of honest Foreigners, as in the administration of the Customs. Now but the merent fragment of such a school exists at Weihalwei. Admiral Lang was got sid of because it did not suit the powers that be to keep clean accounts, nor to preserve due disciplina. Probably Mr Theo. Schnell is now the only survivor of the entire number. Admiral Ting bas hardly gained by his compliance with the rest. It is something for Ting to beast that his Foreign officers have one and all concurred in resenting his recent degrada. tion. Had he gone, in all pro-bability the Fleet would have never returned, but would have been in the same position as the forts. Had it been possible to have kept the Fleet in good order the enemy could never have gained the advantage if did in Kores and Manchuria, but once command of the sea was lost it was useless any longer exposing the ships that remained. Ting, however, probably stands alone, and it is noteworthy that he alone was placed in contact with a British officer. Had Ada miral Lang's connection with the Northern Fleet longer continued, or had the Atmy been similarly placed under Foreign officers of high character and standing, China would not have had, as she has done, to hite the dust before the infinitely less powerful state of Japan. FROM a private letter from Poking it appears that the memorial against bi-Hung-Chang was a formidable document containing charges against that venerable statesman, or sensciose dolt. as the memorialists bluntly put it, that would, if true, half of them, have justified the ling. chih-ing of that personage.
